

In Another Harbor

Words and Music by ROBERT W. MUNCIE

1. Her sails were hoist - ed high in the gen - tle breeze, She
 2. I sat there think - ing how, for on man - y a day, I'd
 3. One day, some - one who stood on the oth - er side Of
 4. I think of friends to whom I've said my good - byes With
 5. I can re - mem - ber how that great ship set sail Though dwarfed the store - fronts and the har - bor trees. I watched that great and tear - drops and waves sit - ting in the bay; But, that pain it faced storms and waves and from my eyes: Though

 A

watched her swift - ly mov - ing out to sea Till, life and time com - ing ships - must all sail on, And some - thing had loved them, in from out at sea: It I had com - ing them, one day they were gone For, From bet - ter land's out there, worth sail - ing for, And fi - nal - ly, she had dis - ap - peared from me.

 now, that glo - ri - ous ship was real - ly gone.
 was the same old ship that once left me.
 this place we here some - times think that we can call "Home."
 we leave here sure to stand up - on that shore.

Vv. 1,2&3 then Ch. 1
 Vv. 4&5 then Ch. 2

Chorus

In an - oth - er har - bor, on an - oth - er shore, 1.She's come to 2.We'll rest for - ev - er - more, In a land more beau - ti - ful

than she's ev - er known be - fore, In an - oth - er we've

har - bor, on an - oth - er shore.